NEW REVENUE IS SAID NEEDED FOR STATE'S RELIEF

Possible Deficit in Treas- ury Forecast By Director

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—(AP)—Finance Director S. L. Nudelman told the House of Representatives today the state treasury had a $20,621,331 balance on May 1, but forecast a possible deficit of $2,549,66 when the biennium ends June 30, 1939.

He insisted the state can't increase its relief appropriations without tapping new revenue sources.

Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, Republican leader, questioned him at length about possibility of diverting unexpended funds appropriated for other uses, saying:

"When people are starving, we are going to try to get money wherever we can."

Mayor Edward J. Kelley of Chicago briefly said:

"You are dealing with human life here. Thousands and thousands are living on half rations. We know you don't want to delay action on this much longer. We know you don't want new taxes, but we in Chicago are ready to do our part in any program except to raise real estate or sales taxes."

Other Chicago officials followed the mayor, declaring the metropolis has no money available for relief without new taxes.

"I can truthfully say that Chicago has no funds that aren't obligated in one way or another," said Comptroller Robert B. Upham.

Appearing for Governor Horner, Nudelman said retail sales tax collections have dropped from approximately $7,000,000 a month last year to about $6,000,000 for the first four months of 1938.

The House listened attentively, with few interruptions. Schnackenberg inquired about the prospects of a business pickup restoring sales tax collections at previous levels.

"Nothing points in that direction," the finance director said. "Quite the contrary in fact."

Previous estimates cited by Nudelman would indicate a net surplus of $8,575,314 when the biennium ends in thirteen months. He cited special session appropriations and other potential increases, saying they would total about $11,000,000 and account for the possible deficit.

Included in the $11,000,000 were such items as $4,500,000 voted last week for added relief, $700,000 asked for a University of Illinois building, $1,000,000 for high schools, $125,500 for special session expenses and an estimated deficiency of $2,000,000 in old age pension costs.

"The deficit in prospect can be overcome only by conserving our resources and collecting new revenue," Nudelman told Schnackenberg.

Planking Nudelman were Matt Adams, assistant finance director, and W. H. McLain, fiscal expert.

The Republican leader, from a prepared list of questions, asked about available funds previously appropriated for such purposes as repair and maintenance of the state fairgrounds, corn borer eradication, state aid to county fairs and bovine tuberculosis eradication.

Nudelman's assistants sent for specific data and said some money already has been drawn against most of the items.

Game Farms Fund
Schnackenberg asked if $200,000 set aside for state game farms could be used for relief.

"I suppose you could if you wanted to answer the sportsmen," he was told. The director said large highway appropriations couldn't be diverted for relief without endangering federal matching grants.

Upham said Chicago had $44,000,000 in cash, all pledged for fiscal purposes, and a $9,000,000 indebtedness to the banks.

William H. Sexton, special traction attorney for Chicago, said the city's $67,000,000 traction fund has been "Chicago's banker" calling the city's financial condition "deplorable."

Speaking then in his dual capacity as a member of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, Sexton defended the $29 monthly family average relief grant in Chicago, saying:

"We have not been giving adequate relief in Illinois for the last four years."

Cites Rockford
Sexton cited Rockford as having a bad relief situation and got into an argument with Rep. F. W. Lewis, Robinson Democrat, who contended family relief grants have been higher than necessary in down-state communities.

Lewis pointed out that some

ADDITIONAL MEN JOIN IN SEARCH FOR FLORIDA BOY

Princeton, Fla., June 2.—(AP)—Federal agents called upon reinforced forces today to help solve the kidnapping of James Bailey Cash, Jr., although there was no development upon which to base even a hope the five-year-old tow-headed boy was alive.

The augmented searching force took the field at dawn, concentrating on areas north of the Cash home, the country southward having been combed yesterday.

Nine police radio cars from Miami cruised back roads, picking up instructions broadcast from headquarters established in a vegetable warehouse here and relaying them to posses.

The federal men centered efforts on tracking down the abductors, who accepted a $10,000 ransom payment without returning the victim.

In their custody were several persons—no outsider now exactly how many—and a number of finds regarded as clues. But if the government's "kidnap squad" already knew who took young Cash from his bedroom Saturday night it was a closely-guarded secret.

An indication of what the FBI men think the searchers might find was contained in final instructions of E. J. Connelly, head of the justice department forces, to the posses.

"We must face the strong possibility this little boy will be found dead," Connelly told the posse leaders. "If you see signs of freshly disturbed dirt—dig. Take your time and dig deeply. Look well in every canal you pass, and in every clump of bushes. Overlook nothing."

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI, took charge of the case today while small boats and divers augmented the huge posse.

Arriving at Miami from Washington, Hoover hastened immediately to the FBI office in a downtown skyscraper where agents have been questioning suspects for 24 hours. He refused, like his subordinates, to discuss the case and indicated he expected to be here several days.

Czech Officials Detain British Lord's Daughter

Praha, Czechoslovakia, June 2.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia authorities explained today the five-hour detention of Miss Unity Freeman-Mitford, daughter of Lord Redesdale of England and a friend of Chancellor Adolf Hitler, was but a part of the routine inspection of all travelers passing through military defense zones.

Miss Freeman-Mitford was stopped yesterday when she drove through a military protection area en route to Karlovy Vary.

Her companions were an American whose name was given as William F. Ruff, of Chicago, a Sudeten German deputy in the Czechoslovak parliament named Wollner and an unnamed British journalist.

Although Miss Freeman-Mitford was subjected to a thorough examination by Czechoslovak road patrols in the wee hours of the morning, the authorities denied reports she was suspected of espionage and said she was not arrested.

OMIT DIVIDENDS
New York, June 2.—(AP)—Dividend omissions multiplied today as corporate directors acted to conserve cash. Granite City Steel Company, Granite City, Ill., was among those that announced no action had been taken on common stock. Previously a quarterly payment of 1½ cents was made.

FINES ASSESSED AGAINST MAJOR OIL COMPANIES

Judge Stone accepted the defendants' plea of nolo contendere by which they were willing to accept penalties without standing trial.

Eight other companies and a like number of officials, who refused to enter nolo contendere pleas, will go on trial in Madison September 23.

In the case of each company and individual whose pleas were accepted the court imposed a fine of $15,000. The costs of $25,000 are to be split among the defendants.

Former Local Man Died in Canada

A clipping from a newspaper published at Prince Rupert, B. C., recently gives briefly an account of the death of Charles French, aged 72, a former resident of the vicinity of Dixon. The notice was received at the postoffice here yesterday, telling of the death of the aged prospector, whose body was found in the woods by a lumberman Saturday night. The clipping was as follows:

"Lying face down, not more than fifty yards from the cabin in which he had made his home for many a year, the body of Charles French, missing since May 17, was found Saturday night by a Billmor mill employee named Heinlicher.

"The belief is that he had started out for Prince Rupert to seek medical advice, for he was not well, and not long after leaving his home, became dazed and wandering into the brush, suffered a collapse and died while in that state.

"Authorities were notified. Yesterday morning, a police launch went out, and the body was brought in. The deceased was 72 years old, a native of Dixon, Ill., and was a well known old timer. He followed prospecting.

"The funeral was held Monday from the chapel of B. C. undertakers."

The newspaper clipping was sent to the Dixon postoffice by Warren McMillan, Prince Rupert, British Columbia, P. O. Box 575.

Stand in Line

Marion, Ill., June 2.—(AP)—More than 50 men stood in a scuffling, scrambling line in front of the court house about half the night, but only 12 of them shared in the $444 paid out by Williamson county for jury service. Several men were knocked down and their clothing torn.

Eugene Roberts, a farmer, stood in line all night and won the first position. A man who arrived at 2:15 A. M. found himself 24th in line. When the janitor arrived at 6 A. M.—two hours before opening—there were more than 50 in line.

The money paid out by Circuit Clerk Ralph N. Adams was that portion of the sheriff's tax collections which had been placed in the jury fund.

ROCKFORD CASE PLANT REOPENS

Inter-Union Dispute to be Arbitrated During Operations

Rockford, Ill., June 2.—(AP)—Employees of the J. I. Case Company headed back to work today pending a final settlement of an inter-union dispute which caused the plant to close April 25.

Members of the United Automobile Workers of America voted at a mass meeting last night to return to their jobs and leave arbitration of the dispute to the plant management and a union bargaining committee.

The U. A. W. A., an affiliate of the CIO, called 1,200 of the 1,500 plant employees as members. The others either were members of rival American Federation of Labor unions or unaffiliated.

The proposal in which the U. A. W. A. members concurred last night was suggested by John L. Conner, U. S. department of labor mediator. Under its terms the union committee and the plant management would begin arbitration immediately and continue daily conferences until they reach a final settlement.

Independent workers and members of the A. F. of L. unions charged the U. A. W. A. attempted forcibly to collect dues and prevented them from entering the plant unless they showed union dues receipts. The U. A. W. A. is the recognized bargaining agent.

Complaint Filed
After the management closed the plant the U. A. W. A. complained to the labor relations board, contending the closing constituted a lockout.

A circuit court injunction was issued at the request of 97 office and shop employees restraining the U. A. W. A. and its officers from interfering with employees desiring to enter the plant. Mass picketing, however, prevented the scheduled resumption of work May 16.

Three persons were injured seriously and 17 pickets were arrested May 23 when police and deputy sheriffs clashed with pickets on a narrow bridge leading to the main entrance of the plant. Those injured are still in a hospital.

Five officers of the U. A. W. A. local, including President Charles Fane, were convicted of violating the Circuit Court injunction. Two were fined $300 and sentenced to 30 days in jail and the others $100 and 10 days. All were released under bond pending an appeal.

The 17 pickets arrested during the riot were scheduled to be given a hearing June 17 in Circuit court.

BREAD SUPPLY IN PITTSBURGH ACUTE PROBLEM

Pittsburgh, June 2.—(AP)—Bread supply became a problem today for several hundred thousand families in the Pittsburgh district as the ovens of 35 major baking companies cooled because of a strike of 1,400 truck drivers.

Also idle were 2,400 inside employees and leaders of the American Federation of Labor's bakery truck drivers union predicted they would join the drivers in a sympathy walkout.

Fighting broke out and two men were hurt as 58 trucking companies formed picket lines on principal highways to prevent freight movements by seven firms which signed a union contract. Cab windows on a truck bearing the name of the Kaplan Trucking Company of Cleveland, were smashed, one wheel was removed and ignition wires pulled loose.

The strike became effective last midnight, 24 hours after the A. F. of L.'s general teamsters, chauffeurs and helpers union ordered out 1,000 long-distance motor freight haulers, halting movements into and out of Pittsburgh.

George E. Frazier, business agent for the union, said the men demanded seniority rights, a closed shop and use of the union label on all products.

The truckers demand an increase of five cents an hour.

Stolen Auto Found Abandoned in Ditch

A 1935 model Chevrolet coupe belonging to Maynard Wendt, employed at the International Harvester Company plant on First street, was stolen this morning about 9 o'clock, supposedly by a youth about 15 years of age.

A local boy notified employees that a strange youth had told him that he had come to Dixon with a carnival company and planned to steal a car and return to his home in Missouri, then drove away a coupe which he found parked near Commercial alley and Highland avenue.

Upon investigation it was found that Wendt's car had been taken and the police were notified at once. A description of the youth and the car was immediately broadcast from the state police radio station near Sterling and city police of Freeport, Princeton and Rochelle were notified. A report came to the local police shortly after the car was taken, stating that it had been seen driving north toward Freeport and a second report described the machine and driver as going south toward Princeton.

About an hour later, Chief Van Bibber was informed that the stolen car was abandoned after turning over in the ditch on state highway, route 2, about two miles west of Denrook, the driver crawling from the wrecked machine and running across fields.

State police and persons residing in the vicinity started in pursuit and Chief Van Bibber and the owner of the stolen auto left Dixon at 10:30 to join the search.

FATALLY BEATS TWO CHILDREN INJURES WIFE

Attacks Family With Hammer; Just Out of State Hospital

Chicago, June 2.—(AP)—On his first night home from the state hospital at Kankakee, Ill., Charles Jokkus, 52, retired after drinking whisky and, Police John Hanrahan said, arose today, fatally beat his two children and badly injured his wife with a claw hammer.

Their skulls crushed, Leonard, 5, and Eleanor, 18 months, died several hours after police found them, bleeding and unconscious in their beds. Their mother, who slipped out of the house to summon help, suffered a jaw fracture. Hospital physicians said her condition was not critical.

"I was awakened by something hitting me, a sort of shock," the mother told Hanrahan. "I looked up and saw my husband standing over me with the hammer in his hand."

"He hit me a couple more times and I got up and fought him. He hit me again, and I managed to get away from him. I got my coat and shoes and ran out to get the police. I didn't think he'd hit the children. I wouldn't have gone if I'd known that."

Confined to Hospital

Mrs. Jokkus told police her husband had been confined to the hospital seven months. Police said that when they found Jokkus lying on the floor of the home he appeared dazed and they were unable to rouse him. They took him to Psychopathic hospital.

The woman said her husband was committed to the hospital after she had him arrested because of his extreme jealousy. He continually accused her of going out with other men, she said.

She told police he had always been a heavy drinker and spent much of his salary as a hydraulic mechanic, for whisky. While he was in the hospital, Mrs. Jokkus had been on relief.

"He came home yesterday and he told me he was cured," Mrs. Jokkus said at the hospital. "He had papers to show it, too, but he didn't act queer, and after a day and acted queer, and after a while he began to drink. I went to bed at midnight, leaving him sitting up writing letters to some friends he made in Kankakee."

Police found an unaddressed letter they said was written by Jokkus. It said "it is not pleasant to die but there is nothing else to do."

W. A. SCHULER TO PROTECT RIVER- FRONT PROPERTY

W. A. Schuler is preparing his properties on First street against flood damage in the future. In the buildings owned by him and occupied by the City Steam laundry, the International Harvester Company branch, the Hotel Dixon and Home Lumber company, protective measures have been employed against a repetition of spring flood damage.

Mr. Schuler designed a system of reinforced concrete bulk heads which he has had constructed around windows and openings along the north side of all of these buildings. The piers are slotted and in the event of high water, two inch planks may be slid into the openings and back-banked with sand to form a practically waterproof bulk head. All of the bulk heads have been built about three inches higher than the high water mark of last spring which was the highest known.

All of the buildings have suffered heavy damage from flood waters during the past two early spring seasons, and under the protection of the system of bulk heads, Mr. Schuler anticipates only minor flooding from possible seepage water and arrangements have been made for pumping such water from the basements before reaching a depth to cause damage or the closing down of heating plants in the buildings. Under this improved system of protection, flood waters will now run into the front entrances on First street before entering through windows and doors on the north side of the buildings.

Several other anti-administration senators also planned to submit earmarking proposals.

Wheeler submitted his amendment during Senate consideration of an appropriations committee recommendation that the House-approved $965,000,000 PWA allocation be cut to $865,000,000.

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—Majority Leader Barkley told the Senate today President Roosevelt does not want to use government funds for building public utility plants competing with privately-owned systems until private utilities have been given an opportunity to sell their holdings at "a reasonable price."

Barkley's statement came during Senate debate on a proposal to forbid the use of PWA funds for constructing plants which would compete with privately-owned systems.

The restriction was recommended by the Senate appropriations committee as an amendment to the administration's three-billion-dollar lending-spending measure.

two years old, was the major threat to peace and other issues could be wiped clear if it were settled.

British officials disclosed a reply from insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco to London's protest over the bombing of two British ships, the Thorpehall and Pentham, in air raids on Spanish government ports. He reply expressed regret and promised a "full investigation."

The cabinet was understood to have approved Chamberlain's two-fold plans:

1. To bring the Spanish government and Spanish insurgents together in a round-table peace conference, a course which unconfirmed reports said Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy already had approved.

2. Negotiation of a solution of the difficulties between the Czechoslovakian government and its minority of Sudeten Germans who have the pledged "protection" of Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany.

SENSELESS SPENDING

PRICE UPTURN BOOSTS INCOME HOG PRODUCERS

Chicago, June 2.—(AP)— More than half a million dollars added to hog producers' weekly income by the recent unexpected price upturn, market experts estimated today, has spurred the rebuilding of the nation's livestock population.

A price rise since mid-May has put 50 to 60 cents per hundredweight on the value of hogs marketed here and at other major livestock slaughtering centers. This upturn, which occurred despite an increase in market receipts, advanced the value of hogs on farms throughout the country approximately $50,000,000, traders estimated.

Rebuilding of the national hog population, which fell to a record low in 1935 and at the first of this year was still well below normal size, began with harvest of last year's big corn crop, but this spring brought the first sharp increase in hog production, market statistics indicated.

S. A. McMurray, a provisions authority, estimated the spring pig crop was 10 per cent larger than a year ago. Last fall the official department of agriculture forecast indicated spring farrowing would increase only about five per cent.

Last fall's pig crop was one per cent less than that of the fall of 1936 and totaled 23,573,000 head. The number of pigs saved per litter, however, was the largest on record.

Conditions for pig raising this spring have been good, according to reports received here, with plenty of feed, favorable weather and no serious disease outbreaks.

Some lizards have suckers on their feet which enable them to walk on the ceiling or on a window pane.

JOHNNIE MYERS, PRINTER

John M. Myers, composing-room foreman of the Springfield (Mo.) Leader and Press, died back in March, and received, in the Leader and Press, a fine editorial tribute.

The editorial was written by George Olds, managing editor of that paper and of the Springfield Daily News and the Sunday News and Leader. The two men had worked together nearly twenty years, and when the news of the foreman's death reached the managing editor, he turned from the telephone to the typewriter and wrote the following under the head, Johnnie Myers, Printer:

Copy!
He was a thin little fellow with a funny grin under a fierce frown.

He'd bash open the swinging doors and he'd yell:
Copy!
And we'd say, Hush, Johnnie, you'll wake up the reporters.

And he'd say, They better get awake! The hook's dry! That would be Johnnie Myers yelling—Johnnie Myers telling us it was darn near press hour and the printers didn't have any stories to set and we'd better get the lead out of our pants if we wanted to get the sheet to the street on time.

You didn't know Johnnie Myers. Not many people knew him. On the payroll he was quite formally John M. Myers, foreman of the composing room of the afternoon Leader and Press. But to us he was Johnnie—brass collar of the day side—boss of the printers who set and make up the afternoon issues—and, if you want to know the truth, about the best assistant editor a man could ask.

Johnnie didn't know he was an editor—certainly he didn't pretend to such lofty powers, nor boast the awful knowledge that editors dream they own. Indeed, he was politely contemptuous of editors. They never would put out enough copy to keep his machines going, they never were satisfied with the space he allotted for news, they were always after him to juggle ads around so they could make a picture fit, they always were hurling copy at him after the deadline was passed—and they never knew whether they were going to have an editorial for him to set.

And Johnnie would bark. Because Johnnie, after all, was a printer. And he owned a printer's ceaseless amazement at the strange ways of the brain department. Editors and reporters write their copy, and advertising men prepare their material, and engravers make the cuts, and stereotypers cast the flat work, and the whole mess is dumped on the printers to set and assemble and send to press.

And somehow they do it. And the paper comes out and it's a good paper and the Big Boss says, Fine paper today. And the paper comes out and there's a bad mistake and the Big Boss says, What damned printer balled that up!

And the printers shake their heads and say, That brain department! Talking about the news department, you understand—the department nearest to the printers, the one they really have to live with.

And over the printers—and over the editors—is a Johnnie Myers. A Johnnie Myers to bust through the swinging doors and holler, Copy! To come busting back and holler, Where's the head for this story? Where do you get South Calhoun street! You've put this story out twice already! You've got ten minutes to go and two days' copy out here! How do you get a one-column head on a two-column cut! That's a swell story, aren't you going to have any more!

Oh, the big stories would break, all right—they'd break fast, sometimes, and Johnnie would know it first. And Johnnie would start tearing up the forms and scheming to make more space and maybe laying the whole paper out again to add a couple of pages. And all the other printers would know it, too, and you could just feel the higher tension—the pulling together, really, to get the paper on the street, to get it there quick and right.

And there would be Johnnie everywhere at once, Johnnie telling us it couldn't be done—and knowing darned well he was going to do it. Johnnie cussing back at nervous editors, Johnnie watching the type dump and keeping the takes straight, Johnnie bashing through the swinging doors and yelling, Copy!

Johnnie died last night. We've got to come to saying that. Johnnie died very quietly under an oxygen tent, far from the click of the Linotype keys, the scream of the metal saws, the clatter of the type galleys, the triumphant roar of the presses.

We used to jest, in the queer way newspaper men have—O, yes, Johnnie was a newspaper man, all right—about the day we'd both be done with mapeup rule and pencil and Johnnie'd be editor of the Celestial Herald and we'd be foreman and we'd come stomping in to Johnnie's desk and loudly holler, Copy!

Perhaps we shall. Who knows? But now Johnnie rests a little while. His last take is set, his last proof corrected, his last form justified and rolled to Dewey the stereotypist. The pressman stands to raise his finger in the signal, Starter!

Wipe off the frown, Johnnie. Break out that funny grin.

But hold it! hold it, Johnnie! We forget to tell you—

WASHINGTON — Some of the wiser heads within the State Department are beginning to wonder whether it was not a mistake for Mr. Hull to jump so flat-footedly on the Senate move to revise the Neutrality Act in favor of Spain.

What is worrying them is Czechoslovakia and the possibility of war in Europe. If war breaks, the State Department will be the first to want to revise our entire neutrality legislation, and the Nye resolution on Spain offered an immediate opening.

The State Department doesn't like to admit it, but the real fact is that the Neutrality Act has been quietly neutralized in regard to every situation except Spain. It has not been applied to China and Japan. And if any loophole can be figured out, it will not be applied to Europe.

Originally the career boys were not worried about Europe. Mr. Hull knew that under the Neutrality Act, France and Great Britain could buy raw materials here, to be processed in their own factories, and that was all France and Britain wanted.

Walter Runciman, head of the British Board of Trade, arranged all this when he was over here last year. He made it quite clear not only that Britain would require these raw materials, but that if they were not forthcoming, she, in turn, would withhold two raw materials all — essential to the United States—rubber and tin.

Now, however, the situation has changed. British and French factories have not been able to keep pace with the Germans in the rearmament race, and they already contemplate buying airplanes over here. Should war break, they would need much more. Sale of manufactured munitions, however, is barred in wartime. And that is one of the big reasons for the increased desire to revise neutrality.

If war breaks this summer, Mr. Hull and his career boys may be the first to regret their crackdown on the Nye resolution and Spain.

John Roosevelt
A Washington florist shop has finally collected seven dollars from John Roosevelt for a corsage he bought for his fiancée last Christmas, but it took a long time after repeatedly dunning young Roosevelt, he sent them the money—in a franked envelope.

Bruce Barton
When Representative Bruce Barton—head of the nationally known Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn advertising firm—ran for Congress last year he scored front page publicity all over the country with his platform pledge to "repeal a law a day."

But during his five months in the House, Barton has kept himself very much in the background. The other day Representative Jim McGranery of Philadelphia voiced his puzzlement over Barton's wary conduct.

"Bruce," he said, "you are either one of the smartest or dumbest men who ever came to Congress. You got yourself a lot of swell publicity during your campaign, but you haven't followed it up at all. We are disappointed with you, because, frankly, we were all set to nail you if you had stuck your chin out."

"And don't you think I didn't know that," Barton replied, laughing. "I knew that some twenty expert attorneys here in the House were just itching to give me the third degree if I gave them a chance. That's why I've watched my P's and Q's and kept quiet."

Reorganization Jitters
Administration leaders on Capitol Hill are suffering an acute attack of the "government reorganization jitters."

Most unhappy, they are sweating between the President's adamant insistence that the defeated reorganization bill be revived and their own weary desire to wind up the remaining unfinished business and go home. The last thing the boys want is more civil war, and reopening the reorganization issue certainly would bring it.

The outcome of this undercover dilemma depends on several factors: how the legislative situation shapes up by the end of this week, and what happens next Monday in Iowa's senatorial primary.

If the new spending bill gets through the Senate without any important changes, thus eliminating the necessity of a protracted fight in conference, and the wage-hour bill conferees patch up a compromise on that measure, then the President would be in a strong position to argue with his floor leaders to try another shot at the reorganization issue before June 11—the hoped-for adjournment date. And if Representative Otha Wearin, the young Administration-backed New Dealer, should lick Senator Guy Gillette, then Roosevelt's reorganization ardor is almost certain to boil and he will demand action this session.

But if Wearin doesn't win in the Iowa primaries, and the legislative calendar gets jammed, then the leaders will have their way and reorganization will be out of the window for 1938.

Note—Even if the bill is revived it will not be in its original far-reaching form, but limited to two of the lesser proposals: creation of a department of public welfare and increasing the president's White House secretarial staff to six.

Wall Street Head
The recent chat between William M. Martin, 31-year-old new chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, and President Roosevelt was very friendly.

SEC Chairman William Douglas, who accompanied Martin to the White House, introduced him in this gay manner: "Mr. President I want to present another New Dealer."

"Welcome into the family, Mr. Martin," laughed the president. "Glad to have you young radicals with us."

"The pleasure is all mine, Mr. President," replied Martin. "We radicals have got to stick together."

Merry-Go-Round
Trivial incidents sometimes loom tremendous on the political stage. The fact that Maury Maverick dined with the Soviet ambassador has been circulated among his Texas constituents with the whisper that Maury is a communist.

On the other hand, the fact that Senator Byrd referred to Maverick as a "baboon" has been circulated in Virginia to the detriment of Senator Byrd. Folks in Virginia, who knew Maverick's grandfather Maury as a great Civil War commander, resented the slur. . . . Maverick, a World War hero and one of the outstanding members of Congress, certainly is no communist.

Speaking of rumor, Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles was so criticized in congressional circles for allegedly favoring the embargo against Spain that a group of congressmen started a petition demanding his resignation. Privately, however, Welles was in favor of lifting the embargo. . . . Minnesota's Farmer-Laborites have won their long fight to oust Victor Christgau as state WPA administrator. He is being replaced by an out-of-state man.

Lucky Wearin
Whether it is the lucky election omen Representative Otha Wearin thinks it is remains to be seen, but the young aspirant to the Senate came within an ace of being on the ill-fated plane that crashed near Cleveland last week with a loss of ten lives.

He had a reservation on the airliner, and could have been on it but for the fact that the House got into a snarl over the wage-hour bill and remained in session until nearly midnight.

The plane left Washington at 9 P. M. Wearin had planned to take it in order to get out to Iowa the following day for several campaign engagements. But at 9 o'clock the House was in a hot row over amendments that opponents of the bill had offered to curb its scope. Wearin, one of the leaders of the liberal bloc that waged the successful fight for the legislation, hurriedly cancelled his reservation and stayed on the job.

The move saved his life, and Wearin believes it was a sign from Providence that he is destined to win his senatorial race. (Copyright, 1938, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Protests Proposed Trucking Measure

Chicago, June 2—(AP)—Ted V. Rodgers, president of the American Trucking associations, said last night that Senate passage of the Pettengill long and short haul bill "would raise havoc with the trucking industry."

Speaking at the annual convention of the Central Motor Freight association, Rodgers said the act would enable railroads "to juggle its rates up and down long enough to put competing private motor freight operators out of business."

He appealed to 700 truckers of midwestern states to oppose passage of the bill, which was drafted by Samuel Pettengill, South Bend, Ind., congressman.

Cavalry Begins Long March Into Michigan

Chicago, June 2—(AP)—Troops of the 14th cavalry regiment, stationed at Fort Sheridan, set out today on a 10-day march to Camp Custer, Mich., where they will spend most of the summer training reserves.

Lieut. Col. Wilfred M. Blunt said the 225-mile march will be made under simulated war-time conditions with the troops alert for attacks by "enemy" planes. The "attacks," he said, will be made at unexpected times by regular army planes which will take off from Chicago's municipal airport.

The world's speed record for land planes is held by the Messerschmidt plane which won for Germany in 1937. The record is 379.16 miles an hour.

MANY PROBLEMS OF LAW CONCERN STATE BAR MEET

63rd Annual Convention Convenes Today at Jacksonville

Jacksonville, Ill., June 2—(AP)—Criminal law and parole, local taxation problems, revision of the state banking act and administrative matters held prominent spots on the agenda of the Illinois State Bar association's 63rd annual convention which convened here today.

Meanwhile, committees and sections offered numerous recommendations in their reports to the opening business session of the three-day meeting following an address by retiring President John F. Voigt of Chicago.

A paid investigator to ferret out facts and assist in preparation of records in its cases was urged by the grievance committee, while co-operation of all lawyers was sought by the committee planning to publish a history of the state supreme court.

Revision of Revenue Article
The taxation section reported completion of basic studies on revision of the state's revenue article. Other sections advocated changes in the minimum fees schedule and revision and reprinting of the association's canon of ethics.

Tomorrow's three sessions, devoted entirely to addresses, will call to the platform a long list of speakers including Frank Boesel of Milwaukee and Jacob M. Lashly of St. Louis, members of the American Bar association board of governors; State Senator Frank J. Brady of Atkinson, Neb., and Dean John C. Fitzgerald of Chicago.

During the noon recess tomorrow the Illinois Association of Circuit Judges will hold its annual meeting with President Judge Chalmers C. Taylor of Bloomington in charge.

Expect Large Attendance
The concluding session of the bar association meeting Saturday morning is expected to draw a near record attendance for discussion of what action the organization should take in regard to recently adopted changes in the canons of ethics of the American Bar association.

Former State's Attorney William D. Knight of Rockford is unopposed for re-election as R. Allen Stephens, secretary since 1916, and A. J. Margrave, treasurer, both of Springfield, while Charles O. Randall of Chicago and Dean Albert J. Harno of the University of Illinois college of law at Urbana have no competition for first and second vice-presidents, respectively.

A hot battle is expected for the office of third vice-president in a contest between Warren B. Buckley, Henry A. Gardner, Paul O'Donnell and Benjamin Wham, all of Chicago.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. He stubbornly refuse anything else.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with

Author of
"THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

ARE MEN MORE PUNCTUAL IN KEEPING ENGAGEMENTS THAN WOMEN? YES OR NO

CAN YOU CURE A PERSON'S SUPERSTITIONS AFTER THE AGE OF 40? YES OR NO

DO PERSONS WHO STUTTER IN SPEECH ALSO STUTTER IN THEIR WRITING? YES OR NO

The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea. (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. A large sample of men and women were studied by G. J. Dudyeha, psychologist, to see if one sex was more punctual than the other. He found that an equal percentage of both men and women were among the very early arrivals, but a much larger percentage of women were among the very late arrivals. The women varied more than the men in punctuality—sometimes coming late and sometimes early. On the whole the men were both the early birds and the most dependable.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Certainly, you can change a person's attitudes at any time of life. Indeed, as Remmer, Thurstone and other psychologists have proved the main things we can change in human beings are attitudes—points of view. The older they are, the harder it is, because they have habits built up around every attitude, but it can be done. A scientific study recently showed that the attitude of an immense number of people in the United States toward Hitler suddenly changed after he seized Austria—their attitudes became much more hostile; and certainly a large percentage of these people were past 40.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. A study is reported in Psychological Abstracts, made by J. Eisenstein, psychologist, in which he had stutters write for 15 minutes on a topic of general interest. He found they tended to write and then cross out a larger percentage of words than non-stutters. He thought this indicated that stuttering has other effects upon the nervous system than merely that of setting up a hesitancy in speech. With a good teacher, the habit can be cured.

CONNIE MACK REVIVES A'S; INDIANS LOSE

Giants Deep in Hit Slump; Pirates Win 4 To 1

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer.
They laughed when old Cornelius McGillicuddy hinted he might do something with his apathetic athletics this season. They laughed when he tossed a couple of ex-college boys into his lineup, and they wanted to know if he thought a Ph.D. or two could change a situation that looked like the cellar from Philadelphia to Moscow and back.

But they're laughing out of the other side of their faces now. For the venerable Mr. McGillicuddy—he's the same old Connie Mack of course—looks like he really might have something there in Philly.

Now don't get the wrong impression. It's definitely not a pennant winner that the lean leader has put together; and it's extremely doubtful if even so excellent a tactician as cagy Connie can pull his boys out of second-division darkness.

But several of the young gentlemen have been doing such tricks recently that Mr. Mack finds them in the American league's sixth place today, with seven wins in their last 10 starts, the latest a 9-5 thumping they handed Cleveland's league-leading Indians yesterday.

75 Runs On 103 Hits.
Their record shows 75 runs on 103 hits in the last 11 games and even Bill Terry is looking enviously at that power. For Bill's Giants are deep in a hitting slump—so deep, in fact, that they've managed no score just one run in the 27 innings of their last three starts, all of them losing efforts. Even against their customary cousins, the Pittsburgh Pirates, the National league leaders looked pretty sour yesterday as they dropped a 4-1 decision, with young Russ Bauers turning in a five-hitter.

Getting back to the A's, you find their sudden spurt dates back about two weeks, when Swinging Sam Chapman, the All-American footballer, left the sunny California campus and showed up at Shibe park. In 15 games, he has hit for .314 and driven in 14 runs.

With the old Indian chief, Bob Johnson, still one of the loops more dangerous clouters, Sammy's presence has injected a one-two punch of sorts into the lineup. It clicked yesterday, with Bob belting a homer with the bases loaded and Chapman clouting one with "one duck on the pond."

Then there's old Lynn (Line Drive) Nelson, who has proved a most pleasant pitching surprise. He went the route for the sixth straight time yesterday, turning in an effective job for his fourth win.

Right now, of course, the A's aren't giving the leaders any anxious moments. Since the Yankees also lost yesterday, Cleveland's race-setting margin remained at three full games, with the A's eight games back. The Yanks found Vernon Kennedy's flinging too much and were belted around, 8-4, by the Detroit Tigers. Kennedy chalked up his eighth straight and Hank Greenberg hit his 13th homer in this one.

Giants' Lead Shaved.
The Giants' lead, meantime, was shaved to two games over the Cubs, whose clash with Boston's third place Bees was rained out. The Cardinals featured homers by Ducky Medwick and Enos Slaughter in walloping the Phillies, 9-4, and Johnny Vandermeer pitched a five-hitter to give the Cincinnati Reds a 4-1 victory over Brooklyn's doleful Dodgers.

Joe Cronin's homer with two aboard was enough for the Boston Red Sox to trounce the St. Louis Browns, 6-3. Buddy Lewis' ninth-inning single drove in the runs that enabled Washington's Senators to nose out the White Sox 5-4.

ENGLISH DERBY MOST COLORFUL TURF CLASSIC

Provides Welcome Inter- lude In Crisis and War News

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs
Writer

New York, June 2.—The annual running of the famed English Derby (pronounced Darby, if you please) at Epsom Downs provided a welcome interlude in the tragedy of war which has been monopolizing our stage.

This unique and most colorful of old world turf classics was initiated by an Earl of Derby way back about the time of the birth of our United States.

In the century and a half since then, this race and its setting have grown to be as much a part of English life as are the thatched cottages, the sweet gardens and trim hedges nestling among the rolling Surrey hills about the Downs.

If you don't attend the Derby, at least in spirit, you are no Briton. Everybody turns out, from king to pearl-buttoned costermonger, to play a part in what is first a wonderful show, and only after that a horse race, even though it does bring together some of the bluest of equine blue-bloods.

Natural Amphitheater
The great race-track, a mile and a half in circumference, is built in a natural amphitheater of some 300 acres, whose gentle slopes can, and do, accommodate crowds estimated at more than half a million for the Derby. Most of these enthusiasts, of course, are quite outside the grandstands and other enclosures—non-paying spectators, in other words.

By the night before the race the Downs already are well-dotted with thousands of people camping out. Break of dawn discloses every ridge leading in the direction of Epsom jammed to capacity, and then some, with a never-ending line of traffic which crawls its slow but cheerful way towards the Derby.

In this squirming line are all sorts of conveyances—motorcars of every vintage, horse-drawn carriages, coaches and fairs, coster-donkey-carts, buses, taxicabs, bicycles, and what not. Mingled with these are many folk making their patient way on foot.

All Accents Heard
The accents of all the British isles, indeed the whole world, are banded back and forth gaily.

All these countless thousands are poured into the grassy bowl about the race course. Nowhere else can such a sight be seen. Here is a mingling of thousands of book-makers, touts, prophets who for a small sum will tell you of a certainty what will win the next race, gypsies who can tell your fortune or pick your pockets with equal facility, vendors of food and drink and souvenirs.

Royalty? All kinds of it, and an army of aristocracy, too, up there in the reserved portions of the stands. Generally the king and queen attend with a great retinue. The cockney all but rubs elbows with his democratic ruler. What a day!

The race? Oh sure, that is being conducted somewhere about, as the cheering of thousands indicates, but if you miss the running you still have had a wonderful day. It is the show of a lifetime.

Three Strong Loop Foes Await Dixon Next Three Weeks

Maytown here Sunday will be the first of three tough games in which the Dixon Knacks nine will engage the next three weeks.

Sunday, June 12, Dixon will journey to Walton. At that time if Walton is still unbeaten the decision will decide the undisputed lead of the Illinois State league.

Sunday, June 19, the Knacks will engage West Brooklyn there, and rumors trickling out of that village indicate the hosts will be all hopped up for the Dixon tilt.

Maytown has always been in the running for Illinois State league titles the past few years and fans are asked to support the locals especially if they are looking for tough opposition. Practice will be held tonight and tomorrow night at Reynolds field and all players are asked to be present. No admission will be charged for Sunday's game with Maytown.

Famous Designer of Racing Yachts Dies

Providence, R. I., June 2.—(AP)—Captain Nathaniel Greene Herreshoff, 90, known in the yachting world as "The Wizard of Bristol" for his designing and building of America's cup defenders, died today at his Bristol home. He had been ill for a year.

"Nat" Herreshoff, one of seven brothers, three of whom were blinded in youth, designed and built every America's cup defender from 1895 to 1920. The firm also built the defenders of 1930 and 1934, Enterprise and Rainbow, although the designing was done by W. Starling Burgess.

His blind brother, John, was the "hands" of the firm, and Nat was the "eyes." They worked together for years, and gave the world not only fin-keeled racing boats and other revolutionary designs in sail, but they developed a coil boiler in connection with a marine engine that turned up unprecedented horsepower. Since 1924, when a new company was formed to take over the Herreshoff plant at Bristol, Nat had been a stock-owner and adviser.

Stagg Is Honored Guest at Chicago

Chicago, June 2.—(AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg returned to the University of Chicago today after a five-year absence to be guest of honor at the annual gathering of the "Order of the C," one of the first lettermen's organizations he founded.

Lettermen gathering to honor Stagg, who coached football at Chicago for 41 years, included H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, head coach of the University of Michigan.

Stagg's college of the Pacific eleven is scheduled to meet the Maroons here this fall in a game celebrating his fiftieth year as a coach. He and his wife are en route to New Haven, Conn., to attend commencement exercises at Yale, where Stagg graduated 50 years ago.

LEGION ACE AT YONKERS

Firemen Razz Figura, manager of the Public Safety Department club which will compete in the Yonkers (N. Y.) ## POUNDS ROSS, ATTEMPTS TO CONSOLE HIM

New York, June 2.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong devoted an hour to giving Barney Ross one of the most unmerciful beatings ever meted out to a champion, and then yesterday he spent hours trying to get hold of Barney on the telephone so he could ask him how he was feeling.

Henry must have known how Barney felt, because it was no secret that Barney's face was terribly swollen and that he was grieving for his lost welterweight title. But it was typical of Armstrong, a friendly little Negro, that he would want to say he was sorry.

Armstrong is such a vengeful fighter and has been called so many kinds of assassin and human destroyer lately that the reader might be surprised to learn that he is an exceptionally likeable and pleasant person outside the ring.

Even should he add the lightweight crown to his abnormal collection of titles when he meets Lou Ambers on July 26, there is not likely to be a popular demand for a "white hope" to knock Henry's ears down.

At 25, he is a solid family man, with a wife and child and a home in Los Angeles. He sings in his church choir every Sunday when he is at home.

Nobody around here has seen him excited or heard him lift his voice. He speaks almost flawless English and is approximately five times as intelligent as his noted friend, Joe Louis. While training for the Ross fight he dashed off several portions of free verse that were much better than you might suspect.

JUNIOR LEGION BASEBALL LOOP BEGINS MONDAY

Junior Legion baseball will commence at Reynolds field Monday, June 6, with games commencing promptly at 5:15 P. M. it was announced today.

Games will be played on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays each week throughout the summer except during holidays. Games will then be played each succeeding night. Each week's schedule will be published the preceding Friday evening.

A shortage of northside boys was reported by officials in charge of Junior Legion ball today. The committee wants a good representation from the northside and every boy that would like to play baseball this summer is asked to report at 5 P. M. Friday at Reynolds field for the last practice session.

A list of the teams, their players, managers and captains will be published later.

Three-I League Delays Piling Up Double-Headers

Chicago, June 2.—(AP)—In keeping with what seems to be the 1938 baseball fashion, the Three-I league will have a lot of doubleheaders piled up for play this summer.

Two more were added to the list yesterday when rain brought postponement of the first-place battle between Moline and Evanston and washed away the Waterloo-Springfield game.

For the second successive night, Decatur nosed out Clinton. Although the visitors bunched four runs in their half of the ninth, the last half to win, 7 to 6. As Springfield was idle, the Commies moved to within three percentage points of third place.

Waterloo's idleness aided Bloomington. The Bloomers smashed out a 13 to 7 victory over Cedar Rapids and lifted themselves above Waterloo to head the second division.

The same teams were scheduled to meet today.

SIZE DOESN'T COUNT

Blackfoot, Ida., with a population of only 3,199, is the smallest city to stage one of the 48 state tournaments of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress. The largest is Los Angeles, Calif., though New York City will be host to one of the district tourneys preceding the state events.

McReynolds, Hantz Box Feature Bout On Tonight's Card

Tonight's the night for Dixon ring followers. The second seven-bout card of the summer will be staged at the Assembly Park auditorium arena at 8:30 p. m. featured by a match between Elwood McReynolds of Dixon and Pete Hantz of Peoria in the welterweight division.

Hantz is 1938 Golden Gloves welterweight champion of the Davenport district. Pete appeared on the card here two weeks ago and will be remembered by his two-listed attack that resulted in the knockout of Tommy Bullock in the second round. Hantz is a puncher and McReynolds a boxer so the match should be worth coming miles to see.

Other bouts will pair Kid Harms against Leonard Goering, Harry Kobbleman against Tommy Morittis, Alex Williams against Jack Collins, Jimmy Forder vs Chris Virgir, George Carlson against Chuck Calvert.

Williams and Carl Bay. The Eagles got ten hits off Williams and B. Williams. The former gave way to his brother when he hurt his leg in the first inning but played second base throughout the game.

CAMP RALSTON OPENS FOR GIRL SCOUTS JUNE 19

Dixon Girl Scouts are looking forward to a happy summer at Camp Ralston. With the usual camping program enhanced by a variety of arts, crafts, and sports, there is plenty from which all may select a full time schedule.

There is to be woodcraft, pioneering (hiking-trailing), country dancing, dramatics, sketching, nature (stars, flowers, trees, birds, insects, animals), handicraft, outdoor cooking and games.

Camp Ralston will begin its first season, June 19th, and there are to be four sessions. Two one-week sessions, and two-three day sessions. Applicants wishing to attend are requested to register, as early as possible, as out of town applications are now beginning to come in.

In Lost Nation
Camp Ralston is located nine miles east of Dixon, on the "Lost Nation" road, following the camp signs.

The girls will live in Units (not named as yet, this will be part of the campers work), divided according to age. Ten year olds to twelve, in the younger group, 12 to high school in the intermediate, and high school in the older girl group.

All Scouts will be under careful supervision of experienced counselors.

The printed folder announces that it is not necessary for a Girl Scout to have a new and expensive equipment to enjoy camp, as it is the plan not to make the expense a burden to the parents. A Girl Scout is thrifty and she brings what is necessary to be clean and comfortable at camp. Camp folders may be obtained at Girl Scout headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce.

Rochele were callers in town on Monday.

It is reported that more drivers run out of gasoline during the summer than during the winter. During the cold months motorists are more careful in their driving and the upkeep of the car.

Among fish, salmon are old at 14, trout seldom exceed 30, eels may reach 40, while carp live half a century.

MILK LAW INVALID
Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—A 1937 Michigan legislative act imposing a $25 fee on distributors of filled milk was held unconstitutional yesterday by Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr in ruling on a suit filed by the Carolee Products Company of Litchfield, Ill.

Complaining the fee was prohibitory, the company sued the state department of agriculture. Officials of the concern said their 4000 Michigan distributors would have to pay $100,000 in fees had the act been held valid.

Asey knows someone is after the ambergis and he is trying to locate it. Then Jack Lorne brings startling news. He has discovered he was never married to Marina because she was already married to agreeable Tim Carr, boarder at the Frye's Octagon House, whom she was blackmailing. ### Chapter 24

A Questionin' Fire

"Say, the trooper who had been at the front of the house walked up to them. 'Say, I can't find Shorty or O'Malley—you seen 'em?' They ought to be around. The ears here. But I can't find 'em.' 'Been back in the woods?' asked Asey.

"Say, I been all over." "Probably after the Carrs and Aaron Frye," Asey said. "I wouldn't worry. Now listen, they're having a real riot up town. I want you to get your car and go find Hanson, and tell him to get fire trucks from other towns, and use the hose—"

"But Shorty and O'Malley—I got to find them. And I can't leave this place!"

"Well, look after things here," Asey said. "You go get Hanson. I'll find your friends. You trot along. That's an order. If it makes you feel better, I outrank Hanson in an honorary way, an' I'm an honorary officer of the law of this town, accordin' to a piece of paper I got to home. You go on. I'll take the responsibility—"

"Well, okay. But I'd like to know where Shorty and O'Malley are," the trooper said. "I don't see where they could be. You find 'em, will you? I'm worried—"

Asey promised, and the trooper went off reluctantly to his car. "Much," Peg Boone said, "against his better judgment. I know. I—well, look at precious!"

She pointed to Emma Goldman, staking majestically out of the woods, her leash trailing behind. "Run away, huh?" Asey said.

"Hi, Emma. Where's your folks? Come here fore you get caught up with that leash—"

The cat walked up to him and rubbed her head against his trouser leg. "Funny," Peg Boone leaned down and stroked the cat's head. "She seemed frightened. Isn't this odd, everyone missing? Shouldn't we yell, in chorus? O'Malley!" she yelled at the top of her voice. "Shorty! Aaron Frye! Carrs!"

Asey laughed. "You raised someone," he said. "I hear—oh, Mrs. Carr."

She panted up to them. "Have you seen Emma—oh, thank goodness! Something frightened her, and she ran like a streak. Pulled the leash square out of my hand. I never knew her to—"

"Where's Tim?" Asey asked. "And Aaron?" "Aren't they here?" Mrs. Carr asked in some surprise. "They aren't? Aaron wandered off, and Tim went after him—long ago."

"Have you seen two cops, named O'Malley and Shorty?" "No, I haven't seen anyone. Except a skunk, after Emma left. And two squirrels. All the animal life seems to be in a perfectly terrible state this evening. I don't know whether Emma got her fright from them, or they got it from her—stop tugging, Emma! Look at her ears! She—"

"Listen," Asey said. "Listen—"

"I don't hear anything," Peg said. "Do you, Mrs. Carr? I—"

Asey motioned for her to be still. "Somethin' queer," he said. "It's a rushin' sound, seems like. I'll walk around back by the barn, an' see what I can see—"

"Emma!" Mrs. Carr said in exasperation as Asey hurried off. "Emma, what in the world is the matter—"

"Gosh!" Jack Lorne said. "Gosh, look—look at that barn!"

Flaming Like a Torch
Peggy Boone raced after him around to the back of the house. The scene before her brought her to a standstill.

Some 150 feet from the Octagon House, the old octagon barn was flaming like a piece of cotton wool dipped in gasoline. She had never seen anything so completely and so furiously on fire. Asey and Jack Lorne, both choking, ran up to where she stood.

"Phew!" Asey said. "Phew! I was just goin' to shove that side door open when the whole thing went—phut! I kind of wonder that I got a face."

"Don't tell me!" Jack said. "I saw you. One minute the barn was all right—the next split second it was a torch! Can't we do something? What'll we do? We've got to do something—"

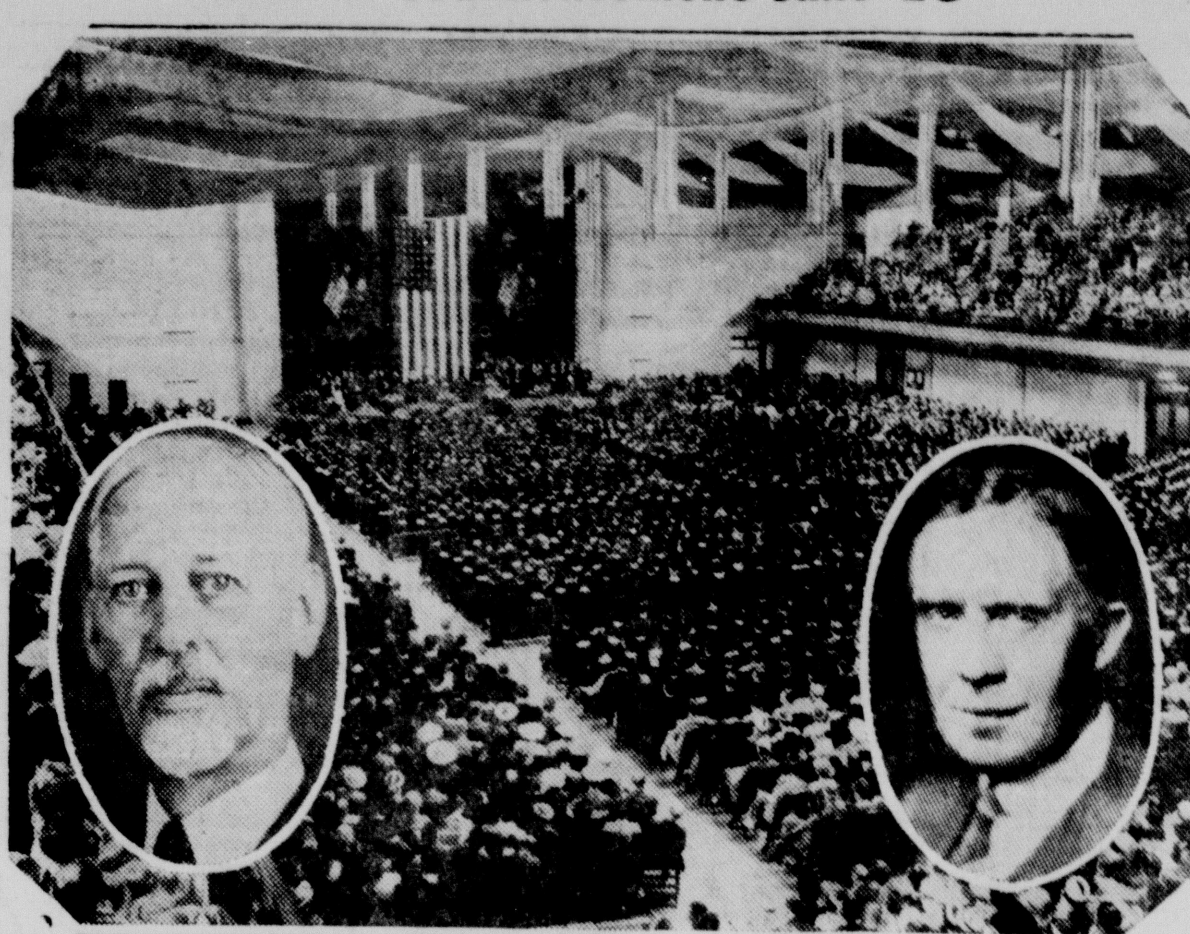

"Like what?" Asey inquired. "Put it out! Call help—hurry, come on, we've got to do something!" Jack said excitedly.

"This house," Asey pointed out, "has only got a pump. The water system at your house is on the blink. The fire truck's out of commission up with the town riot. So the phone. What can you do?"

"We can't just sit!" Peggy protested. "Maybe you can't," Asey returned, "but that's what I'm goin' to do. That barn's tinder, pure an' simple. It'll be down in five minutes. It's even hot here. We better move up onto the porch."

"But the house!" Jack said. "Suppose the house should catch?" "Sposin' it does?" Asey said. Jack Lorne looked at him in amazement. Had Asey Mayo forgotten that Pam's ambergis was in

Illinois Commencement June 13

PROF. E. L. BOGART - COMMENCEMENT SCENE - PRES. ARTHUR CUTTS WILLARD

University of Illinois graduates will receive their diplomas June 13 at the sixty-seventh annual commencement in a scene similar to that above in George Huff gymnasium. Dr. Ernest L. Bogart (left insert), retiring head of the department of economics, will be the principal speaker. Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard (right insert), president of the university, will confer the degrees upon some 2,000 seniors and graduate students.

the Octagon House somewhere? For a man who was supposed to be so clever, Jack decided Asey Mayo was pretty dumb. Stupid.

He started to say so, but Asey's wide-mouthed yawn shocked him into silence.

"Heat," he remarked, "always makes me awful sleepy. You see now why the cat was in such a fidget. She seen skunks an' squirrels runnin'. Prob'ly there was dozens of animals livin' in that old ark. When the fire started, they beat it. Emma seen 'em, an' city cat that she is, she knew enough to run."

"I don't believe it!" Peg insisted. "Didn't you ever see a forest fire, with all the animals runnin' from it?" Asey asked. "Fire panics 'em. Say, you know I wouldn't wonder if maybe perhaps this house didn't catch, at that. It's kind of warm in up in sympathy, sort of."

"Aren't you going to do anything?" Peg demanded. "Are you just going to sit there? We must do something—something! They always drape wet blankets around when there are fires like this, over my way. Shouldn't we?"

"Writhin' With Disappointment!" "If this was a proper an' logical Cape house," Asey said, pulling out his pipe, "we could dabble an' dribble around with wet blankets on the far roof. But it ain't a logical house."

"But we ought to save things!" Jack said. "If worse comes to worse," Asey said, "we'll salvage silver an' books an' things. It's the heck of a pity that Aaron Frye can't be around just to tell us what he treasures the most. You know, I remember once in Wellfleet nearly scorchin' my hide off to save some old pewter plates an' a couple of fiddleback chairs, an' a stack of silver, all for an old aunt of mine when her house burned. An' that woman, she laid me out in lavender. What she wanted, an' what I didn't save, was the old wooden spoon she stirred batter with. There goes the roof—watch!"

"The octagonal barn swiftly reduced itself to a mass of charred embers. Without quite understanding why, Peg and Jack found themselves assuming his matter-of-fact and philosophical attitude. Neither of them noticed his preoccupation with the woods around the barn."

"There," Asey said at last, "that's the end of that. Wonder if Frye had insurance?"

"Probably not," Peggy said, "unless Pam thought about it. Asey, why didn't anyone come to see this fire?"

"The other shows is givin' us too much competition," Asey said. "Well, I guess this concludes the performance—"

"Performance is right!" Peggy interrupted. "Do you realize that we sat—sat, and never lifted a finger? And Asey, how did it start? Was it set?"

"What a horrid thought!" Asey said, the shadow of a smile playing around the corners of his mouth. "Set? Tsh, tash! Why, barns—includin' octagonal barns—they burn down every day. Set? My, my. An' there we never lifted a finger, never did a thing we was sposed to do. Just twiddled our thumbs. Someone is probably writhin' with disappointment out there. In fact, someone is there, I'm sure. But I'm guessin' about the writhin' part."

"What are you talkin' about?" Lorne demanded. "What do you mean, someone set the barn on fire? Why? Who? What for?"

"It was a questionin' fire," Asey said. "But it didn't get answered, 'cause there ain't no answer. Now, if you twoll be good enough to hold the fort—"

"Where are you going?" Peg asked. "I'm goin' to rec'noitre," Asey said. "You an' Jack are herewith pro tem, deputies, or somethin'."

Anyway, you stay here, you stay put right here no matter what you think, or feel inspired to do. See?"

The pair nodded. There was something in Asey's voice that forbade any questioning.

"Okay," Asey said, "an' hang onto the Carrs, please, if you have to hang on to their shirt tails."

He stroiled out past the smoldering barn to the woods beyond. (Copyright, 1938, Phoebe Atwood Taylor)

What did Asey mean by "a questioning" fire? Continued tomorrow.

Traffic today needs highways like this

Your concrete highway system has served this state well, and will serve it for years to come. But wider, more modern roads are needed on some routes because traffic has outgrown the facilities provided many years ago.

Rational planning surveys are under way to determine—
The volume of traffic carried by various highways.
The order in which they should be improved.
Where divided-lane, by-pass or relief highways are needed.
Where grade separations and modernizing are required.

The next step in sound highway development is to act on the facts revealed by these surveys—concentrate funds and engineering skill on doing "first things first" for highway users.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

TORNADOES LAST ONLY ABOUT ONE MINUTE IN ONE PLACE, WHILE CYCLONES AFFECT THE WEATHER FOR THREE DAYS... YET, TORNADOES USUALLY CAUSE THE MOST DESTRUCTION.

A TORNADO is a local, restricted example of a cyclone. It seldom travels the breadth of one state, and is of short duration. A cyclone travels over continents, lasting for days, but after it has roared on its way, the damage may not be worth mentioning, while the little tornado, in its few minutes of existence, has left death and destruction.

The "Oath of Abhorrence"—But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank
(Dan. 1:8). A schoolboy in Mexico has lately spoken for God, and who can yet tell what may be the glorious consequences? You will thrill to hear his words, in the form of an "Oath of Abhorrence," for which he received a gold medal from the President of his country and the far greater thrill of hearing his words chanted by a great throng of 50,000 of his fellow schoolmates in the National Stadium, in Mexico City. Under the flag of their country, with bared heads and right hands lifted high, these are the words they solemnly chanted: "Beneath our glorious flag and under the eyes of God, we swear one and all, to abhor alcohol, the assassin of our national spirit, the degenerator of our race." Is such a declaration on the part of Mexican youth due, in large part, to the "Anti-alcohol hour" observed every Friday from eleven to twelve in 22,000 public schools of that land?—From The Sunday School
Times. Sent by Albert Mygatt,

When Columbus Set Foot in America

NO happier crew ever sighted land than the weary little band of 88 men which first glimpsed the shores of the New World in the dim morning hours of Oct. 12, 1492.

At dawn Columbus landed, richly clad, bearing the royal banner of Spain. He was accompanied by the brothers Pinzon and a great part of the crew.

Here was a dramatically historic picture. When they had all "given thanks to God, kneeling upon the shore, and kissed the ground with tears of joy, for the great mercy received," Columbus officially named the island San Salvador and took solemn possession of it.

Then those who had shown themselves doubtful and mutinous during the long voyage sought the leader's pardon, and, weeping, prostrated themselves at his feet.

The landing of Columbus is shown below on a stamp of the U. S. series of 1929, after a painting by Vanderlyn in the Capitol at Washington. The stamp, 15-cent, Prussian blue and light brown, is reproduced slightly more than one and one-half times actual size.

A class consisting of 85 gradu-

Memorial Day Services

The weather man was very good to this community on Memorial day, neither too hot nor too cool, just an ideal day. Early in the morning many people were in the cemetery decorating the graves of their loved ones, and greeting friends. The cemetery as in other years was beautiful. Frank Bates, he sexton is to be highly commended for the fine work that he does at the cemetery. For a time it was thought there would not be many flowers owing to the heavy rains, but there was an abundance of lovely flowers. We have heard it said many times and again this year, that there is no other town that has such a lovely cemetery and has such a lovely memorial program. The line of march is a most beautiful sight. This custom of marching from the Presbyterian church to the cemetery was inaugurated over fifty years ago.

At 1:30 veterans of all wars, sons of veterans, and Girl Scouts gathered at the American Legion hall, while leaders and children gathered at the Presbyterian church. The children were divided into eighty-four groups with a leader. Each group with a son of a veteran decorated some soldier's grave. The leader of the group or squad carried a large green wreath while each child carried a cluster of flowers. The Franklin Grove band was the leader of the parade, which was followed by the Altenberg Post, No. 497, American Legion. Then came an automobile driven by Fred Kippner, a wounded World War veteran and in the car was G. W. Ling, our only surviving Civil War veteran; the speaker of the day, Rev. H. J. Randall and Rev. Louis Grafton, next was the Girl Scouts with their captain, Miss Winnifred Breunier, Sons of Veterans and the children with their leaders. The gaily dressed children ranging in age from about four years to beyond the 'teen age does present a most beautiful sight and one cannot help but be thrilled as they view this parade of the future citizens of our country. Services at the cemetery are always very impressive. The decoration of the graves at the firing of a volley by the firing squad, selection by the band, the squads, leaders and sons of veterans assembled around the cenotaph where the Post Commander read from the American Legion ritual, after which prayer was offered and the band played, decoration of cenotaph was by the post sergeant-at-arms, firing of the salute and the taps concluded the services at the cemetery. The line of march again formed and marched to the Kersten gymnasium. In other years the services were held at the camp ground. The community is very fortunate in having such a spacious building as the gymnasium to have such gatherings in. Services at the gym were carried out as advertised, selection by the band, invocation by Rev. Grafton of the Presbyterian church, the grade school under the direction of Mrs. Rorick sang a patriotic number, which was followed by the girls' trio, Darlene Buck, June Hatch and Jeanne Blank who sang two numbers, "My Buddy" and "Roses of Picardy." Superintendent Nell A. Fox introduced Rev. H. J. Randall of Morrison, speaker of the afternoon. He used for his subject, "Our Heroes and Our Heritage." Rev. Randall is not a stranger here, having occupied the Presbyterian pulpit here a number of times. His address was full of good thoughts. The band played "Star Spangled Banner," after which Rev. Grafton pronounced the benediction which closed the services for 1938.

Altenberg Post No. 497, of the American Legion, had charge of the program for the day. Honorary President, G. W. Ling; president of the day, Walter D. Heckman; marshal of the day, George L. Spangler.

W. C. T. U. Notes
